Re: DA 12-1863, IB Docket No. 12-340; RM-11683

Dear Federal Communications Commission:

Access to information and data is important no matter where you live. I represent a rural district in the Missouri House of Representatives, and the constituents I represent need to have a clear window to the world. The wireless industry is increasingly important to education and jobs and the American economy. I think that every constituent I represent should have access to wireless services and be able to benefit from the technology.

I am writing to ask that you favorably consider the request filed by LightSquared to modify its license. The Federal Communications Commission is an agency with a stated mission of ensuring "that the American people have available – at reasonable costs and without discrimination – rapid, efficient, nationwide and worldwide communication services." LightSquared can do that and it is time you let them.

The Commission should approve LightSquared's request to modify its license so it can provide a nationwide wireless broadband service-using spectrum shared with the federal government. This will help the constituents in my district.

Thank you for your time and swift consideration.

Sincerely,
